State Trading schemes relating to Agriculture department.

Call for information immdiately.

Information about the working of the State Trading schemes relating to Agriculture department the number of defalcations and misappropriations and the numbe of prosecutions in each district may be sent to me early. A brief account of the audit report and what irregularities and delays in submission of accounts have been pointed out what proposals are under consideration to rectify defects and improve the working of the State Trading schemes may also be stated in the note.

F. & A. (N)

A draft memo to the Joint Director of Agriculture is submitted below for approval.

S.7-12-49.

Issued as a memo No. 58928 N/49-1 d/ 8-12-49.

From the Joint Director of Agriculture dated No. Jt, 879/49 d/16-12-49.

To A.S.

The Joint Director of Agriculture's report on pages 9-30 c.f. with references to the memo on pages 1-2- c.f. may be perused.

The number of defalcations and misappropriations during the past two years '47-48 and '48-49 and the number of prosecutions in each district during these two years are indicated in Annexure I on page 13 c.f.

There were 41 cases of defalcations and mis-misappropriations in 1947-48 against 37 cases in 1948-49. The worst districts are Krishna Guntur, Chingleput, S. Arcot, Tanjore, and Madura in 1947-48. and Nellore, Chingleput, Tanjore, Trichy Madura, Salem and Coimbatore Districts in 48-49. Full details of the various irregularities arranged district war are given in Annexure II on pages 15-30 c.f.

A brief account of the latest audit report showing irregualrities and delays in the submission of accounts, and the action taken by the Joint Director of Agriculture thereon is given at page 11 c.f. The Joint Director of Agriculture considers that the defects in general are due to lack of experienced and trained staff for exercising efficient supervision and concurrent check of the initial accounts maintained in the depots and more frequent verifications of stocks by the subordinate staff, and partly due to recruitment of staff on temporary and emergency basis without any security of their continuance with the department with the existing inadequate staff, the Joint Director of Agriculture considers that is not possible to exercise supervision to completely avoid frauds and misappropriations by unscrupulous subordinates.

2. It may be noted in this connection that the Director of Agriculture has recently suggested that the distribution of chemical fertilizers and iron and steel should be taken away from his department with effect from 1-1-50 and entrusted to private firms and cooperative societies if his proposals for separate staff for State Trading schemes are not accepted. His suggestion is separately under consideration.

The case may be circulated to H.M. (Agri) for perusal of the Joint Director of Agriculture's report on pages 9-30 c.f.

31-12-49.

State Trading can be had only as an emergency measure and not as part of the regular administration, except in regard to some nascent industries which private trade is reluctant to handle and which the State considers necessary for the welfare of the masses. It has therefore been suggested in another file, that the state trading in regard to manures and Iron and steel may be given up and that they may be handed over to the cooperative societies gradually in the course of the next five or six months. As pointed out in the other file that by entrusting the distribution of these materials to the Agricultural department, we not only compel these departmental officials to do some kind of work for which they have neither the inclination nor the training necessary for it but also waste their specialised knowledge, which should be available for a better purpose. Now that proposals made in the other file have been approved in circulation, immediate steps will be taken to transfer the work to the cooperative department within the next six months and minimise the scope for misappropriation and departmental enquiries. No further action seems called for in this file.
